Subject: Microsoft Settlement

The only way this "settlement" would make sense, is if Microsoft was only able to donate NON-Microsoft products to schools.

Otherwise, it allows Microsoft to make further monopolistic inroads in one of the few areas where they don't dominate, the school system.

And, it's not Microsoft doing the bullying this time -- it's the US Supreme Court that's forcing Microsoft on young children and indoctrinating them into a Microsoft life-style.
